

scinema

scinema

Festival of Science Film 2011 Venue Partner Form

Free to your school, library, town hall, gallery or museum, SCINEMA is a film festival staged nationally to celebrate National Science Week (August 13 to 21). With thanks to National Science Week, we offer your venue at no cost a package containing our 2011 film program on DVD, printed posters and programs, study guides, t-shirts and publicity materials. CSIRO will provide national publicity. What we require from you in return is that you stage your screenings during National Science Week, that admission is free, and that you take care of local publicity. School sessions don't have to be open to the public, but we ask all other venues to provide our website (www.scinema.com.au) with session times for the general public. Our final program won't be decided on until late early June 2010, but in recognition of The International Year of Chemistry in 2011, our program is sure to contain a few films with a strong chemical theme. We are holding a national student short film competition, and the finalist films will be included in our program.

If you would like your venue to be part of our exciting 2010 festival, fill in your venue details and email to scinema@csiro.au or fax to 02 6246 4600.

Entrant details

Your name: _____

Your number: _____ Your email: _____

Venue name: _____

Venue address: _____

Town: _____ State: _____

Postal address: _____

Venue website: _____

Your t-shirt size: _____ How many posters should we send you : _____ Programs: _____

How did you hear about SCINEMA?: _____

